

I am against the FCC making a national telephone privacy law that would restrict state telephone privacy laws that already exist. I used to receive at least 10 telemarketing calls a day. Now I might receive one a month. I will never buy any product or service from a company that annoys me with telemarketing calls. Being on the list is a personal choice that consumers make to have peace in their own homes why would anyone want to change that? Please do not take the consumers rights away to please big business.
